Managing Abandonment Issues Through Recovery

Hi, my name is Mark Smith. In 1989 I founded Family Tree Counseling Associates, a thriving marriage counseling practice in Indianapolis. I am also writer. I have written for a local newspaper and a national magazine, as well as writing hundreds of articles for our highly trafficked website. My blog RELATIONSHIP JAZZ attracted 60,000+ visitors last month. My writing style is cutting, direct, down to earth, edgy, informal and sometimes about as subtle as a jackhammer. Good marital therapy is about communicating uncomfortable but inspiring truths to a couple. Life-changing writing is about communicating uncomfortable but inspiring truths to the reader. I write from a very raw and deep place in my heart. I am a teacher who has a great deal of amazing information that I have gathered in my 27 years as a therapist concerning marriage, addiction, abandonment, shame, recovery and healthy living that I believe can impact readers in extremely positive ways. I share very openly about struggles in my own life and recovery process. My clients and my readers have enjoyed this and been helped a great deal by my forth right style. Thank you for stopping by. Please join our mailing list so that we can stay in touch. If you join our list now I will give you 3 FREE gifts (a $25.00 value) See below for more information...
