Let's face it – it's pretty freaking hard to grow a business in this day and age without already knowing how things work, what works, and how your ideas fit into the scheme of things.

In all my experience I have found there are 3 important things in getting going on any money-making idea. These are:

- the strategy,
- the inner game and
- the implementation (the ability to get things done).

And in fact, as you've probably already realised, you can't build anything without all three.

You have to have a clear, workable strategy that suits the way you're wired, you need to clear out any dodgy wiring holding you back and then you need to flat out get stuff done. But of course, not just any stuff: the right stuff, at the right time, in the right order... Kind of like playing music 😊

(the right notes, at the right time, in the right order...)

And that's exactly how I grew Wire Yo
